Civil engineer and real estate economist

MSc civ. eng. INSA / MAS CUREM UZH

Alrick Amann is a civil engineer, graduated in 2010 from the National Institute of Applied Sciences (INSA) in Strasbourg (F). During his diploma work, he was interested in the seismic study of buildings in the Geneva area. Between 2010 and 2012, he worked on various construction sites for the large French engineering group Egis.

Upon his arrival in Switzerland, he worked between 2012 and 2018 in the field of preservation of buildings and structures at the engineering firm Henauer Gugler AG in Zurich. His focus was on expertises, seismic safety and analysis of load-bearing structures.

Between 2018 and 2021, he worked as a civil engineer at Ingeni SA, an engineering company specializing in complex structures, where he was able to contribute and deepen his expertise in various large projects in the Zurich and Geneva areas.

From March 2020 to November 2021, he pursued and obtained a Master of Advanced Studies in Real Estate at CUREM at the University of Zurich.

Since April 2021, Alrick Amann is working at Fahrländer Partner Raumentwicklung.
