Federal Dipl. Real Estate Trustee
Real Estate Appraiser FA Real Estate
Economist

Cédric Hochuli completed his banking apprenticeship at Credit Suisse in 2001. After completing his apprenticeship, he spent another sixteen years with the company. The first ten years he worked in credit risk management, specifically in credit analysis for real estate financing for private clients and SMEs.

After graduating as a real estate manager and real estate appraiser with a federal certificate of qualification, he decided to move within Credit Suisse to the real estate appraisal department in 2011. There he trained as a real estate trustee and was promoted to Senior Real Estate Appraiser in 2016. As a specialist, he prepared valuations across all property segments and acted as an expert for gastronomy and hotel properties.

In 2018, he was entrusted with setting up the newly created valuation desk at Ginesta Immobilien AG. There he was responsible for various consulting and valuation mandates. As an extended member of the management team, he also successfully contributed to the dynamic development of the valuation department lead by himself, and the entire company.

Since 2013, he is a lecturer at the WISS Schools for Business, Information Technology & Real Estate on the subjects of real estate valuation and real estate financing and prepares students for the completion of various federal professional certificates.

Cédric Hochuli has been working for Fahrländer Partner Raumentwicklung since September 2023.
